

ENTRY DEADLINE: 11 December 2020

CARDIOVASCULAR CARE INITIATIVE OF THE YEAR

The delivery of cardiovascular services to patients is often delivered in specialised settings but there are also new and innovative treatments and pathways. Where and when people receive care has been changing. Bringing patients closer to their care is important in reducing inefficiencies and providing more control. System led approaches have also changed the way treatment has been delivered.

Prevention initiatives working across organisational boundaries especially in terms of population health and working with primary and community environments. Combined these new approaches are adding value to the service, reducing attendance and saving money.

This award will recognise NHS and public sector organisations and local care economies that are making progress on cardiovascular care and prevention. Our judges will be looking for teams who can prove that a change in approach has significantly bolstered the quality of care, and so improved financial value and patient experience. Judges will also be looking for integrated initiatives of prevention and treatment.

WHY WAS LAST YEAR'S WINNER SUCCESSFUL?

The judges found this to be an inspiring programme to prevent heart attacks and strokes at scale, with a systematic approach to optimising detection and management of high blood pressure and high cholesterol. The team showcased impressive results in improving care in large numbers of patients and demonstrated an improved use of primary care services alongside a wider range of allied healthcare professionals. This ultimately helped achieve significantly improved health outcomes alongside cost benefits. Overall, the programme brings a lot of added value across a system that will have undoubted patient benefit.
